

Multiple Perspectives Note Catcher (inspired by the C3WP version)

Name: _____

Part 1

You will read articles related to an issue and fill out the graphic organizer below. This will help you consider real world issues and multiple perspectives on those issues. You will create your own informed opinion!

| Sources and Their Credibility                               | Their claim!What is the sources' main argument? What is their best evidence? | Argue the other side!What counter arguments could be made for this source? | Fact checking!What evidence does this source have that does not hold true ALL the time? | Uncovering value!What claims do the source make that should be further questioned, examined, or defined? |

|---|--|
| What question will your argument and research respond to?   |  |
| Before you do your research, what is your claim in response to the question?  |  |
| Now that you have read multiple views and articles on this issue, revise your claim to reflect your informed view here.  |  |
| Countering Voice: Consider sections of your claim that someone could disagree with. What would they say to counter your claim? Write down what opposers would say or question. |  |
| What in the Countering Voice has merit and calls you to seriously consider your points and/or evidence?  |  |
| What could you respectfully argue against the Countering Voice ?   |  |
| After considering the Countering Voice , write a revised claim.  |  |
